The Great Battle Ground—The "Last Ditch."

[From the Richmond Dispatch, May 24.]

The situation of the Confederate forces, of the movements of which some slight indications only are afforded, together with the advance of McClellan's troops, justify the expectation of a grand battle shortly, if not in a few hours. The earlier the better. To know as soon as possible what is to be the result of the latest attempt to get possession of this city, is the desire of every one. Indeed, it is the only way to save the city, to meet the enemy and frustrate his schemes, which all understand to be to invest Richmond and take it by gradual approaches. Names of the Killed, Wounded and Missing of the First Long Island Volunteers. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.

be to invest Richmond and take it by gradual approaches.

There could be no more agreeable news to every person in this city, and, we are sure, to the citizens of the South everywhere, than that of a great battle raging near Richmond. All have condidence in the Southern troops—all believe that when they meet the invaders of our soil they will repet them as the firm rock does the wave that beats in vain against it. Let them but meet the fee who has marched into our country to desolate our homes and rob us of our property—nay, to commit the most herrid of outrages—and they will rush upon him with a beavery and determination that he will be utlerly unable to with that. They fight for their country's rights and henor, and in defence of the women and children of the South. They will desend them or die. There is nothing so disheartening to those gallant sons of the South as to be ordered to "fail back," as it is called. They advance with avidity and joy—they retreat with heavy hearts and deep mortification.

We trust they are not to be compelled to pursue the retrograde any more, but that, brave patriots as they are, they will be ordered to do what is to them most agreeable of all things—to meet and drive back the enemy. If the soldier is gratified, the fields near Richmond will be our Marathon. If the public feeling is consulted, those fields will bear that same undying name; and if the pledges of the government, Confederate and States, and the concurrent opinions of high military authority, be maintained, the soldier and the people will all be gratified, and the fee will be defeated, Richmond saved, and the common cause of the whole South be placed on a now and solid basis.

To surrender Richmond would entail consequences that we fear to look at. They may be too disastrous to contemplate. We have an abiding faith in our people, and believe they would continue fauthful to the end; but nevertheless it is too plain that the handing over the metropolic to the enemy would continue fauthful to the end; but nevertheless i Robert Homes, Co. [From the Richmond Dispatch, May 24.]
Our Northern brethren are now engaged in an assiduous endeavor to restore the Union and sot the Stars and Stripes afloat in Richmond, by laying plans to marder and rob all of our people who may wish to prevent the consummation of their dearly cherished project. For saveral days past they have caverted around the suburbs in sufficient numbers to pillage with impunity, but not to meet any respectable force, on whose appearance they would fly like frightened sneep. Yesterday, with characteristic caution, they sent up Professor Lowe in his famous balloon to observe the motions of the rebels. The machine, which was distinctly observed by a large number of spectators in this city, was embellished with two United States flags, and ascended about four miles from the city in a northeast direction. No doubt the observations of the Yankee aeronaut were satisfactory, as by three o'clock a fight was reported in progress between the abolition and Southern forces at the head of the Mechanicsville turnpike.

Last week was the great benefit week at many of the theatres, and, as the seasons were chaing at several of summer season, there was more briskness in the theatri cal business than during the week previous. Next week we shall have considerable variety, not only in the programmes, but in the managements. Miss Maggie Mitchell, Professor Anderson and the Florences all make their appearance as managers, and, as we shall probably have a pleasant spell of weather now, preceding the in-tense heat of summer, the theatre and Opera patrom-will no doubt avail themselves of the novelties pro-under the management of Napoleon Ullman. Nor is the intersperse it with his magnificent performances, and Professor Horrmann with his prestidigitarianism. All the talent in the operatic line will be represented, including Brignoli, Susmi, Amodio, Miss Kellogg and Madame D'Angri. In addition to these favorite artisus, Mr. Ull-man promises us two debutants—first, Madame Comte Borchard, who has a European fame and was recently "the star of the Opera" in New Orleans; and second Madame Herrmann, who will make her first appearance in the "Child of the Regiment." The season is to con-tinue for six consecutive nights, commencing on Wednes-day with "Lucrezia Borgia," in which D'Angri will take her favorite character of Orsini, and Madame Borchard Lucrezia. Mr. Ullman, in order to popularize Italian opera, as well, no doubt, as to suit the stringency of the times, has reduced the price of admission to haif a Keene's theatre to-night, of which establishment she has assumed the lesseeship. Miss Mitchell appears in her original and favorite character of Fanchon, the Cricket, in the German play of that name, translated and adapted for herself. The piece will be put upon the stage, we understand, in the best style, and with the charming acting of Miss Mitchell herself, combined with an excellent company, it can hardly fail to have a run. "Fanchon" is on the programme for every night in the

The grand operatic romance of "The Syren," arranged from Auber's opera of "La Syrene" expressly for Miss Caroline Richings, will be produced for the first time at Niblo's Garden to-night, and will be repeated through the week. Extensive preparations have been made to bring out this spectacular and operatic piece with all the accessories of scenery, costumes and machinery. Miss Richings made a great success in the "Enchantress," which she has performed for several weeks past. In putting a new piece of a similar character on the stage we have no for Miss Richings is a charming singer as well as a most graceful actress, and we perceive that the programme entains a much larger share of songs than fell to her in Winter Garden to night, after keeping the theatre closest for the past week, in order to complete the preparations for the spectacular burlesque of Charles Gayler, entitled "The Wizard's Tempest." The programme promises something magnificent in the way of scenic effect, optical delusion and the peculiar art of the Professor. Mr. Andrew derson announces a strong company of artists, and no doubt will produce a very fine piece. We understand that it is an entirely novel performance, combining a variety of features rarely if over presented on the stage.

During the past week Wallack has been sustaining the reputation of his theatre by the presentation of those fine old plays which accomplish so much in pre-serving a true dramatic public taste. On Saturday night given, in which a bovy of first class artists appeared for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. John Sefton. To-night tablishment, the popular and courteous Mr. Moes, will take his benefit, on which occasion the comedy of "Littie Treasure," a piece new at this theatre," and Buck-stone's fine comedy of "Rural Felicity," will be produced with the entire strength of the company on the boards. Mr. Wallack announces that he will address the audience during the evening, and, as Mr. Wallack always has something happy and interesting to say, his speech will no doubt be one of the pleasantest features in the enter-tainment. The performance to-night closes Mr. Wal-lack's present season, as he has let the theatre for the

with a full repertoire.

The week opens at the New Bowery to night with Miss Adah Isaacs Menken, in the drama of the "Three Fast Women," in which she takes nine different characters. At Fox's Old Bowery, "Jack Sheppard in France" remains on the bills, and, with the addition, the dramas of "Valsha, the Slave Queen," and the "Pirates of Algiers," Darnum announces that, at the urgent request of numerous patrons, he will keep open his unique buby show for distributed for this show, it was stated that the first premium was awarded to George Augustus Magraff. It should have read Magrath.

The weekly programme of Bryants' Minstrels is as good as ever. Dan Bryant continues his buriesque of "Rarey," which is a very happy thing in its way. The Bryanta keep the field in negro minatrelsy. Nixon's "Cremorne Gardens," which are to be con-ducted on the principles of the London establishmens of Palace Garden, corner of Fourteenth street and Sixth avenue. They will combine a great variety of enterminament, including a musical performance, an equestrian display, a floral exhibition, and a promonade, illuminated with countless variegated lights. The Cromorne Gardens are a new institution here, and will probably be come quite popular.

Miss Tateman, who has made such a favorable im-pression in Winter Garden upon large and appreciative audiences, will appear at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, to-morrow evening, in her really fine impersonation of John, in the "Hunchback." Miss Bateman will appear for one night only in our neighboring city, supported by the same company of admirable artists who sustained her in New York during her recent engagement. On her in New York during her recent engagement. On Suturday evening the directors gave the free use of the Academy for the benefit of the management of the com-bination company, on which occasion "The Serious Family" and the last act of "Richard III." were produced. Between the pieces a grand ballet from the " Enchantress" was introduced, in which Mile. Gallett, Mons. Tophoff and Miles. Heiene and Katrine appeared. The Gottschalk and Brignoli combination have been doing well on their provincial tour. On Monday last the company gave their first concert in Providence, before a brilliant and numerous assemblage. Madame De Lussan sang with great success the "Grace" from "Robert le Diable," the "Cavatina" from "Ernani," and the duet from "The Favorita," with Brignell, which latter was

He played eight pieces, which were evidently much appreciated, judging from the in-tense attention with which he was listened to. During the concert in Providence on Monday evening Signor Susini received a telegraphic despatch, which contained but four words, which no doubt were worth a whole world to bim. These were:—"You are a father."
Mdme. Hinckley Susini, it would appear by this brief telegram, has been performing in a new role. We hope that this addition to her repertoire will prove an agreeable or ten days, they will not be troubled with it once in three months.

> At the German Opera on Friday night, the "Magic Flute" (Zauberfloete) was represented at the Stadt Theatre be-fore an overcrowded house. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR SICK HEAD-ACHE, ITS SYMTOMS, CAURE AND CURE. This has received its name from a constant nauses or sick-ness at the stomach, which attends the pain in the head. This headache is apt to begin in the morning on waking from a deep sleep, and when some irregularity of diet has been committed on the day before, or sometimes for several days previous. At first there is a distressingly oppressive feeling in the head, which gradually merges into a severe, heavy pain in the temples, frequently attended by a sense of fulness and tenderness in one cyc, and extending across the forehead. There is a clammy, unpleasant taste in the mostin, and offensive breath, and the tongue, covered with a yellow-lish white fur. The sufferer desires to be alone in a dark toom. As soon as the patient feels the fulnoss in the head and pain in the temples, take a large dose of Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and in an hour or two they will feel as well as cover. This has been tried by thousands, and always sure to cure, and instead of the sick headache coming or every week or ten days, they will not be troubled with to once in three months.

SOHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS are composed of a number of roots, besides Podophillin, or concentrated Mandrake, all of which tend to relax the secretions of the liver, and act more proupt than blue pills or mercury, and without leaving any dangerous effects. In a billious person they will show themselves by the stools. They will expel worms, mucus, bile, and all morbid matter from the system. In sick headache, if they are taken as directed above (a fall dose as soon as they feel the first symptoms of it), Dr. Schenck will, and has directed his agents to, refund the money if they do not give perfect satisfaction.

They only cost 25 cents a box.

Whoever takes them will never use any other. They are worth a dollar to a sick man for every cent they cost.
